

Military English Courses

LSI PORTSMOUTH
International House
Portsmouth

“

LSI is the best Executive Training Centre in the UK in terms of its teaching, facilities, quality assurance and attention to detail

*Fahad Mansour Al Malik,
Head of Currency Issue,
Saudi Arabian Monetary
Agency (SAMA)*

LSI-IH Portsmouth: A Brief Profile

Language Specialists International (LSI Portsmouth) is an accredited and externally validated English language teaching organisation. We have been delivering specialist training in English language, communication and cultural awareness since 1985. At the outset of a course we work closely with our clients to conduct a thorough needs analysis and identify individual requirements and professional objectives. Based on this, a bespoke course is created which is client-centred, target-driven and results-oriented. Innovation and flexibility are hallmarks of LSI programmes, and clear systems of communication and reporting enable clients to monitor progress in a systematic, meaningful and transparent way.

- LSI Portsmouth is:

- inspected and accredited by the British Council
- inspected and accredited by the Independent Schools Inspectorate (ISI) and was found to 'exceed expectations in all areas of the school'
- a provider of University of Portsmouth validated Pre-Sessional courses for undergraduate and postgraduate students since 2000
- a member of English UK
- a member of the international body of quality language schools called IALC (International Association of Language Centres)

- LSI is located in Portsmouth on the second and third floor of a three-storey building with 10 classrooms which can accommodate up to 45 students. We have the option to use university classrooms when we need.
- LSI has a staff of over 20 well qualified and experienced teachers. Several of these are published authors in their fields.

LSI delivers specialised English Training in the following areas:

- English for Business & Professional Communications
- Specialist English Language Training for Military Personnel.
- English for Examinations (IELTS, OET Cambridge, TOEFL and STANAG)

Depth of industry knowledge

Over the past 30 years, LSI has provided training courses for over 600 organisations and government bodies from over 30 countries and these include:

- Professional Communication Training Courses for international companies such as Siemens, Renault, KPMG, Alstom, Bosch, Savola and Saudi National Commercial Bank
- Successful English training for military personnel from international governments since the late 1980's. Clients have included armed forces from Saudi Arabia, Oman, the UAE, Kuwait, Qatar, Italy, France, Spain, Poland, Finland and Chile. LSI has provided support training for Babcock and BAE Systems.

Expertise in Military English

Range of Military Language Training - LSI-IH Portsmouth has been involved in a wide range of language training programmes for military personnel since 1985 and these have included:

- Royal Saudi Navy: cultural acclimatisation; specific technical training i.e. mine-warfare divers; civil engineers; technical writing; foundation training; crew specific terminology development for WE technicians, ME technicians, sonar technicians, enginemen, hull technicians, gunner's mates, bosun's mates, electrician's mates and quartermasters
- Sultan of Oman's Armed Forces: RAFO, RAO, COSSAF, SSF, RNO: communications, electronic warfare, weapons systems, navigation, ammunitions, explosives, logistics and OSAVE
- Qatar Defence Force: pre-OTC training for Cranwell, Sandhurst, and Dartmouth, pre-sub lieutenants course
- UAE Defence Force: pre-OTC training, pre-Advanced navigation and ship-handling course, pre-pilot training, pre ATC
- Italian Navy and Air Force: general English and ESP training for officer groups
- French Navy logistics support organisation: NAVCO: various training programmes, e/g/ English for Helicopter Flight Instructors
- Polish Army: Polish/Baltic peacekeeping forces in Bosnia
- Kuwait Navy: pre-vocational training programmes
- Finnish Coastguard: intensive ESP programme for international co-operation
- Spanish Navy: Masters preparation
- Chilean Navy: Submarine training course
- UAE/ Hastings College Technical Training Project: military English
- UAE Police College: specialist preparation for officers going on to Masters Degrees in Police and Criminal Justice Studies and Strategic Quality Management.

Min. English level:	A2 (CEFR)
Min. age:	18
Max. class size:	6
Hours per week:	25
Course Length:	2-4 weeks

Military English Language Training: For Cultural Acclimatisation

Who is this course suitable for?

- Staff from international governments or organisations that need to culturally acclimatise to living in the UK and also develop their accuracy and fluency in English and specific technical vocabulary before starting specialist training (ages 18+)

What are the course objectives & course content?

For participants to be able to:

- develop their ability to understand different native and non-native accents, pronunciation, intonation and word stress
- improve their understanding of instructional language in preparation for future training courses
- refresh and develop their own language and levels of fluency, accuracy and confidence when studying and working in English
- improve their general (and if required, specialist) vocabulary range

- develop a better understanding of UK culture and conventions in civilian academic and military contexts
- participate more effectively in everyday and professional situations in an English-speaking environment

How will the course be delivered?

Training will take the form of class-based lessons and also include seminars, workshops, practical demonstrations and observations. Participants will be encouraged to collaborate and share experiences with participants on their course and also with participants from other countries at LSI who may be studying other subject specialisms.

This course can be delivered as a closed group or on a 1:1 basis on our premises. On request it may be possible to deliver this course at a location outside LSI to suit the client's needs i.e. on a military base.

Are there any course enrolment requirements? Yes, each applicant should complete and send a needs analysis form to LSI Portsmouth at least three weeks before the course begins.

Typical Course Timetable:

	9:15-10:30	10:30- 10:45	10:45-12:00	12:00-1:15	1:15-2:30	2:30- 2:45	2:45-4:00
	Grammar, Listening, Speaking, Pronunciation & Vocabulary Development	Morning Coffee Break	Military English: Comparing Ranks - Army, Navy, Air-force	Lunch/ Optional supervised self-access	Understanding British Culture: Food & Drink	Afternoon Coffee Break	Social English: Polite Requests, Checking & Clarifying Information

Exact starting and finishing times may change, but there will always be 25 hours of taught classes per week (except where there is a public holiday).

improve their understanding of

Military English Language Training: For Military Purposes

Min.English level:	B1 (CEFR)
Min.age:	18
Max.class size:	6
Hours per week:	25
Course Length:	1-20 weeks

Who is this course suitable for?

Military and civilian staff from international governments and organisations who need to develop their accuracy and fluency in English, specific technical & military vocabulary, additional subject areas i.e. mathematics and physics or professional communications skills before starting specialist training courses (ages 18+)

What are the course objectives?

- For participants to be able to:
- develop their ability to understand different native and non-native accents, pronunciation, intonation and word stress
  - improve their understanding of instructional language in preparation for future specialist training courses
  - refresh and develop their own language and levels of fluency, accuracy and confidence when studying and working in English
  - increase their military, technical and specialist vocabulary range
  - develop the ability to take notes, read specialist texts, write technical memos, reports or journals, and give briefings and presentations
  - develop a better understanding of UK culture and conventions in military contexts
  - participate more effectively in professional situations including meetings, small talk & networking, telephoning and e-mail writing

What is the course content?

This training course is designed as a preparation for participants going onto specialist military training in the future. The exact content is based on a comprehensive needs analysis process. Previous courses have included specific technical language training for:

- mine-warfare divers; civil engineers; technical report writing; foundation training for replacement crew; crew specific terminology development for WE technicians, ME technicians, sonar technicians, enginemen, hull technicians, gunner's mates, bosun's mates, electrician's mates and quartermasters
- armed forces communications, electronic warfare, weapons systems, navigation, ammunitions, explosives, missiles, logistics, Overseas Aviation English (OSAVE)
- pre-OTC training for Cranwell, Sandhurst and Dartmouth & pre-sub-Lieutenants' courses
- logistics support, helicopter flight instructors, NATO peacekeeping, coastguards, preparation for Masters in Strategic Studies
- submarine training, Police College preparation for Masters Degrees in Police and Criminal Justice Studies, Strategic Quality Management and staff courses at Hendon

How will the course be delivered?

Training will take the form of class- based lessons, guided E-Learning and regular progress feedback and also include seminars, workshops, practical demonstrations and observations.

Participants will be encouraged to collaborate and share experiences with participants on their course.

This course can be delivered as a closed group or on a 1:1 basis on our premises. On request it may be possible to deliver this course at a location outside LSI to suit the client's needs i.e. on a military base.

Are there any course enrolment requirements?

Yes, each applicant should complete and send a needs analysis form to LSI Portsmouth at least three weeks before the course begins.

Typical Course Timetable:

	9:15-10:30	10:30- 10:45	10:45-12:00	12:00-1:15	1:15-2:30	2:30- 2:45	3:00 - 4:15
	Language for Instructions & Describing Processes	Morning Coffee Break	Presentation Skills for Military Briefings	Lunch/ Optional supervised self-access	Specialised English: Language & Vocabulary for Physics of Diving	Afternoon Coffee Break	Specialised English: Language & Vocabulary for Anatomy & Physiology

Exact starting and finishing times may change, but there will always be 25 hours of taught classes per week (except where there is a public holiday).

Military English Language Training: For IELTS or STANAG Examinations

Min. English level:	A2 (CEFR)
Min. age:	18
Max. class size:	6
Hours per week:	25
Course Length:	Dependent on student's level and targets - please contact LSI to discuss

Who is this course suitable for?

- Military and civilian staff from international governments and organisations who require preparatory training to attain IELTS scores of 5.5 (or higher) necessary to access specialist technical training in Army, Royal Navy or Royal Airforce College courses or Universities (ages 18+)

- Military staff from international governments and organisations who require preparatory training for STANAG 6001 assessment tests

What are the course objectives and course content?

For participants to be able to:

- refresh and develop their language and levels of fluency, accuracy and confidence when communicating in English with native and non-native speakers of English
- improve all the skills required for their exam, as well as areas of grammar and vocabulary necessary for IELTS or STANAG success
- develop different exam techniques through a range of interactive activities, practice exams, guided E-Learning and regular progress feedback

- develop their ability to understand different native and non-native accents, pronunciation, intonation and word stress
- participate more effectively in everyday and military situations in an English-speaking environment

How will the course be delivered?

Training will take the form of class-based lessons and blended learning. Participants will be encouraged to collaborate and share experiences with participants on their course and also with participants from other countries at LSI who may be studying other subject specialisms.

This course can be delivered as a closed group or on a 1:1 basis on our premises. On request it may be possible to deliver this course at a location outside LSI to suit the client's needs i.e. on a military base.

Are there any course enrolment requirements?

Yes, each applicant should complete and send a needs analysis form to LSI Portsmouth at least one week before the course begins.

Typical Course Timetable:

8:30-9:15	9:15-10:30	10:30- 10:45	10:45-12:00	12:00-1:15	1:15-2:30	2:30- 2:45	2:45-4:00	4:00-5:00
Optional self-access	Grammar/ Listening/ Speaking/ Pronunciation	Morning Coffee Break	Grammar/ Listening/ Speaking/ Pronunciation	Lunch/ Optional supervised self-access	Reading/ Vocabulary/ Exam Skills	Afternoon Coffee Break	Writing/ Vocabulary/ Exam Skills	Optional supervised self-study

Exact starting and finishing times may change, but there will always be 25 hours of taught classes per week (except where there is a public holiday).

Language Specialists International

2-2A Isambard Brunel Road
Portsmouth
Hampshire PO1 2DU
United Kingdom

Tel: + 44 2392 291811

info@lsi-portsmouth.co.uk
www.lsi-portsmouth.co.uk

